ORGANIZE YOUR WEEK

MONDAY

- List the jobs you would like to do
- On web or talking with friends and family search for them and find companies or agencies interested hiring you (do not wait for them to post a job offer, make yourself known)
- Search for ads of work to understand what companies need and correct your CV if is it necessary (if you don't have download from this link <https://europa.eu/europass/en/create-europass-cv>)
- Choose at least two companies to propose your application to
- Prepare a CV, a cover letter and exercise yourself in job interview (see the next chapter to know how to do it)

In CV it is essential to indicate at least one reason why the company should hire you: if you don't have experience, talk about your personal interests or skill.

IMPRESS THEM!

TUESDAY

- List companies and agencies to contact and try to do it: the goal is sending your CV and cover letter by email or by hand
- Start traditional job research too
 - Visit web sites of recruitment or read newspaper section dedicated to job search (if you don't know any web sites, visit the section of this book dedicated to resources)
 - Fit your CV and cover letter
 - Send at least 3 CVs

WEDNESDAY - THURSDAY

- On web or talking with friends and family understand how to improve your CV and from these consideration simulate a job interview

FRIDAY

- Call back the companies where you have presented CV and try to fix an interview

GO ON READING AND IMPROVE THESE ACTIONS FROM MONDAY TO FRIDAY

CHAPTER 2: LEARN TO GET A JOB

STEPS TO WRITE AN OUTSTANDING CV

CV must necessarily contain:

- Personal data
- Academic training
- Complementary training (courses, seminars related to the job offer)
- Languages (including the level)
- Work experience: company, duration, job position
- Other data: drivers license, availability to travel
- Have a general CV that you can slightly modify according to the job offer

Use a computer to write it and highlight the most important data in bold.

MEMO:

- Have a general CV that you can slightly modify according to the job offer
- Use the impersonal voice
- It is preferable to have only one sheet, two at most

Erasmus+ Programme of the European Union

WHY IS A COVER LETTER SO IMPORTANT?

Its aim is to stand out to the recruiter and highlight why you should be selected for a job interview.

It should include:

- Presentation paragraph mentioning the offer that we are applying to and how we found it, as well as mention that we are attaching our CV.
- Adaptation paragraph showing interest for the position and company or showing the coincidences between the requirements and our abilities to try and show that we are the ideal candidate.

REMINDER

- Put yourself in the shoes of the recruiter
- Written always and only in the first person
- Showing your passion, motivation or benefit for the societies which hire you

JOB INTERVIEW

"Put yourself in the shoes of the recruiter"* what does it mean?

- Think about if you had a company: how would you like your employees to be? This is the center of question!
- Think about your strengths and describe them, then ask your friends or family to listen to you and give you a first impression.
- If it is necessary modify your CV and cover letter referring to this.

FEEDBACK FROM THE PARTICIPANTS

"It gives me hope, the amount of care and consideration you have put to make the material inclusive and adapted to the needs of your groups in order not only to train, but to inspire them"

"Employment is so much more than making money to survive, it's also a way to connect to the world, we should never forget that"

"I really liked the training and I was surprised by the gaming approach and the interesting way it was presented. I am happy that my school offers us this kind of class"

"After the training, I feel so much more prepared for the moment when I will start to look for a job. Now I know how to make my own CV in the right way, what to say in the interview and what to expect from a job contract"
